

4 Things You Should Know About Managing at Meetup

Will Howard, Director, Web Engineering

Before I start...

The 4 things

1.

Moving teams should be easy and encouraged

Changing product teams

Changing engineering teams

Movement helps spread knowledge around the company

2.

Tight bonds within engineering teams matter

Engineering teams should have regular rituals

A good code review culture is important

Engineering teams should have goals outside of their product teams

3.

Clear paths for growth

As a company grows, this starts to matter more

Career growth isn't just about managing people

But, mentorship shouldn't just come from managers

4.

Managers need time to manage

Managers focus on growing and developing people

Make sure managing is in the job
